5.3. The Jury Members are responsible for deciding whether an application should be excluded. This occurs after the hearing of interested parties, as described in this document.

6. EVALUATION CRITERIA, SELECTION PROCESS, LISTING AND CLASSIFICATION OF APPLICATIONS:

Analysis, selection and listing of applications will be done according to the following evaluation criteria (which will be detailed and quantified in meeting minutes), regarding scientific areas relevant to the PhD degree:

Curricular Analysis (AC) – (scored from 0 to 20 points) is worth 30% of the final classification and will focus on the following:

- a) Research experience, including communications and scientific publications (I): 60%
- b) Ongoing or defined research project (P): 10%
- c) Professional activity, courses, internships, or other relevant experience (AP): 30%

The calculation of the Curricular Analysis (AC) classification is done through the weighted average of the evaluated criteria: $AC = I \times 60\% + P \times 10\% + AP \times 30\%$.

Motivation (M) for the accomplishment of this PhD Program - (scored from 0 to 20 points) is worth 10% of the final classification.

Individual Interview (IE) - (scored from 0 to 20 points and disclosed in decimal points) has a weighting of 60% in the final classification. Will include a brief presentation in English on the candidate's personal and scientific background and will focus on a) scientific knowledge, research experience, professional experience, and b) motivation, availability and, communication skills (including knowledge of English) and interpersonal skills.

- a) The candidates will be evaluated (from 0 to 20 points and disclosed in decimal points) by the members of the Jury present in the IE (at least 3 members of the jury will be present in each IE).
- b) The call for the interview, indicating the date and time, will be sent to the candidates email address indicated at the time of application.

The final classification (FC) is expressed by the following formula: $FC = AC \times 30\% + M \times 10\% + IE \times 60\%$

According to the criteria identified above and the limit of vacancies fixed (22), the 22 candidates with the highest final classification equal or higher than 16 points (on a numerical scale from 0 to 20 points) will be placed - "Approved - Placed".

The candidates with a final classification equal to or higher than 16 points, but classified after the 22nd position, will be considered alternates - "Approved - Not Placed". Successful candidates - not placed (alternates) who meet these criteria will be automatically placed in decreasing order of the final classification in the event of withdrawals of approved - placed candidates before the beginning of the PhD, or in the case of approved-placed candidates who do not proceed with the enrollment in this PhD Program within the deadlines established for this purpose.

In the event of a tie in the attribution of the final classification of the last candidate "Approved - Placed", extra vacancies will be open in a number equal to the number of candidates tied with the same classification as the last candidate "Approved - Placed" for placement.

Candidates with a final classification rating lower than 16 will be automatically excluded - "Excluded".

7. COMMUNICATION OF RESULTS:

The results of the selection process will be individually communicated to each candidate (to the email address provided in the application form).
